

Alain Dubuc is the President and Publisher of Le Soleil, in Québec City.

He had been the Editorial Page Editor of La Presse, in Montréal since 1988.

He is speaker or panelist in many conferences on economic, political and social subjects, throughout the Canada and elsewhere in the world.

He has won many journalism awards, including the Annual National Newspaper Award for editorial writing in 2000, the Canadian Business Award for his contribution to economic education in 1985, the Great Montrealer in 1984 as well as the National Business Award in the editorials category awarded by the Toronto Press Club and the Royal Bank of Canada.

He published a book entitled As simple as economics and he was co-host of a weekly television program at the public TV network, for personal finances and economics vulgarization.