

Dr. Jones is a Biotechnologist with the USDA-APHIS Biotechnology Regulatory Services. She conducts risk assessments associated the field release of genetically engineered plants and microorganisms. She provides advice and guidance to government and industry on US biotechnology regulatory requirements and develops and implements initiatives to facilitate public understanding of APHIS programs, policies and procedures.