

Dr. Schuch has over twenty five years experience in biotechnology. He led the science programme at the Syngenta Wheat Improvement Centre, research projects in fruit and vegetable improvements, nutritional and yield enhancement of food crops as well as forest tree biotechnology.

Dr Schuch is visiting Professor at Royal Holloway University London. He obtained his Ph.D. from Edinburgh University, Scotland and his BSc in Genetics from Tübingen University, Germany.