

Pal Maliga is Professor at Rutgers University, in Piscataway, New Jersey. His research interest is the molecular biology of plastids, including transcription, translation and expression of recombinant proteins. Dr. Maliga is the principal inventor on key patents enabling plastid engineering. Pal Maliga is Foreign Associate of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences and Member of the European Academy of Sciences.